

Quick Facts

- Offers a wealth of fully searchable current and archived primary source information from Spanish-language news sources and services
- Includes complete electronic editions of more than 20 Spanish-language newspapers from major U.S. cities
- Provides complete electronic newspaper editions and tens of thousands of full-text articles from around the world
- All content is written in Spanish, rather than translated
- Supplements and can be cross-searched with America's Newspapers and Access World News
- Offers versions of the interface in both Spanish and English
- Covers a wide range of current issues and topics of interest
- Serves a large and fast-growing Spanish-speaking U.S. population

Spanish-language news from the U.S. and abroad

According to recent research, Spanish is spoken by more than 30 million U.S. citizens at home and is the second most common language in the United States, with trends suggesting that its usage will continue to grow rapidly. Spanish is also the most widely taught non-English language in secondary schools and institutions of higher education. To help serve Spanish speakers and those learning the language, NewsBank offers Acceda Noticias, a Web-based collection of Spanish-language news sources.

A resource for the large and growing Spanish-speaking population

Acceda Noticias provides convenient access to the complete electronic editions of more than 20 Spanish-language newspapers published in major U.S. cities from Florida to California. It also includes tens of thousands of current and archived full-text articles from other news sources from across Argentina, Brazil, Chile, China, Columbia, Ecuador, Mexico, Peru and Spain. With this specialized, value-priced resource, libraries can extend the domestic or international news coverage provided by America's Newspapers or Access World News. Acceda Noticias can be cross-searched with these collections, and it shares the same user-friendly interface. However, it can also be browsed, searched and purchased individually.

Spanish-language interface and coverage of current issues

Acceda Noticias not only features a wealth of primary source information from Spanish-language news sources and services, but it also enables patrons to choose between two versions of the interface—one in English and the other with all search, navigation and help in Spanish (America's Newspapers also offers this option). Beyond, Acceda Noticias is an ideal resource for Spanish speakers interested in researching current issues, and it is also a useful tool for those learning Spanish or English as a second language. Acceda Noticias offers multiple perspectives on a wide range of current issues in the U.S. and abroad, including:

- Hispanic history & culture
- Government & politics
- Entertainment
- Sports
- People
- Religion
- International relations
- Environment
- Immigration
- Civil rights
- Law
- And much more

For more information, contact a NewsBank representative by calling 800.762.8182 or emailing sales@newsbank.com.