

ACCESS WORLD NEWS

Help students understand the global world in which they live

Every day important issues and events impact small towns, big cities and entire nations, creating unique experiences and diverse perspectives. By staying abreast of local and global events and understanding various sides of any issue students are better equipped to draw their own conclusions and opinions. Additionally, many assignments require students to use primary sources to relate classroom learning to the real world.

NewsBank's Access World News is a comprehensive news resource that helps students to develop global perspectives through unique primary sources from around the world.

Valuable primary source information

Primary source information, now a requirement in many school assignments, helps students relate classroom learning to the real world. Access World News features hundreds of news publications from nearly 200 countries worldwide. These sources include major national and international newspapers, news wires, transcripts, videos and more. Access World News is updated daily, and includes deep archives that provide essential background information on a wealth of topics, enabling students to trace an issue or event over time.

Support for classroom assignments in all subject areas

News sources provide an accurate, concise record of history and support a wide variety of classes, including

global studies	world history	speech	debate
U.S. history	economics	civics	journalism
literature	science	IB programs	and more

Whether researching a certain topic, seeking articles and sources published within a specific country, or working on a pro/con project, students can easily find opposing and like perspectives by comparing articles from different geographic regions or cultures and sources.

Powerful search features

Access World News features an intuitive, map-based interface that helps users access and compare news reports from their local newspaper, a specific country, a select group of regional titles, or all of the titles in their school's collection.

- Customize the interface with direct links to specific titles
- Search by location date, title, source type to help identify relevant articles
- Save search sessions
- Create bibliographies with the bibliographic citation tool
- Search seamlessly with federated search tools like Ebsco to increase use

Special Reports for added value

Special Reports are included to expand your collection. Featuring a collection of articles, photos, maps and web links that pertain to a timely topic or monthly theme, Special Reports provide a wealth of information for all subject areas.

NewsBank's Access World News offers authoritative primary source information for global research in all subject areas through relevant content and a student-friendly interface that help encourage student use. These features help NewsBank products provide more value for dollars spent to allow libraries to provide a wealth of usable information even with smaller budgets
